

Statistical terminology is hardly the most important issue affecting serving personnel or their families.

The Ministry of Defence has for some time preferred the term "non-UK" instead of "Foreign and Commonwealth" - often abbreviated as F&C.